ELKS LIKED ROCKLAND

And Gave Grand Exalted Ruler Thompson Fine Reception—The Various Events

Sifting in Rockland Saturday over highways which converge upon this city came many members of the B.P.O.E., bent upon attending the annual convention of the Maine Elks Association. The number was greatly augmented Sunday, thanks to the continuation of the perfect summer weather. The total registration was upward of 300, including the ladies of the party.

Headquarters was established at Hotel Rockland, which was gaily decorated for the occasion, and where Landlord Keating left nothing undone to contribute to the comfort of the delegates. Here also the vanguard of Elks had the pleasure of greeting the newly-elected grand exalted ruler, Floyd E. Thompson upon his arrival, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Thompson.

A reception for Mr. Thompson and his family was tendered at the Elks Home Saturday evening and proved to be a very happy social affair.

In the receiving line were the wives of the local Elks officers, Mrs. Albert C. Jones, Mrs. William Glendenning, Jr., Mrs. Earl Barron, Mrs. Percy Damon, Mrs. J. N. Southard, Mrs. E. F. Berry, Mrs. Wallace E. Spear, Mrs. Percy McPhee, Mrs. T. J. Foley, and Mrs. E. W. Pike.

The reception was followed by a ball.

The 11 o'clock toast was given by John Welch of Portland, the oldest chaplain in the country having served 34 years.

Among the prominent Elks present at the reception were Frank J. McHugh of Lynn, president of the Mas-ceived attention Grand Exalted Ruler Thompson was presented for an address, and was given such a welcome as only Elks can give. He said in part:

"I Am My Brother's Keeper"

Elkdom is a national institution. Membership means more than affiliation with a local club. It is an enlistment in a movement which has for its purpose the preservation of the sanctity of the home, the fostering of the spirit of brotherly love, and the teaching of the love of country. Born out of the simple desire to form a social club to relieve the loneliness of men away from home, this Order of American gentlemen has grown in numbers and prestige until in its maturity it affords 1,500 clubs where men of all political faiths and all religious beliefs meet on common grounds.

Elkdom is an American Order founded in man's nobility. It breathes the spirit of the age in which we live. Teaching loyalty to established government and obedience to constituted authority, it holds that just government exists only by the consent of the governed and that the free citizen who controls himself and has faith in his fellow citizens is the safest prop of such a government. It believes in truth, in honor, temperance, in comradeship. It has spent tens of millions in unostentatious charity. In every hour of its existence it has blessed humanity and smoothed the pathway of human life. To the cry of Cain it answers, "I am my Brother's Keeper."

Today it holds three-quarters of a million men in its fond embrace. Every state and territory and every insular possession of this mighty nation is represented on our roster. Men in high governmental positions, captains of finance and industry, professional men, merchants, mechanics, farmers,—men from every walk in life have taken the obligation at our altars and greet each other as brothers in our club rooms and in the market places of the world. Can you question the fraternal spirit of such a brotherhood. No man whose heart has been touched with the soothing influence of Elk comradeship will say that fraternalism is dead.

The social side of Elkdom cannot be over-emphasized in these times when men need the sympathetic companionship of their fellows. Carefully planned and diversified programs will keep interest in your lodge alive and will leave little work for the lapelation committee. Frequent family picnics and parties are good gloom chasers. There is no sweeter music than the laughter of children at play. Where the wives and daughters are active around an Elks' Club you will find a live lodge. The entertainment committees of the subordinate lodges render a great public service when they provide wholesome amusement for the members and their families and drive dark despondency away by the light rays of true Elk friendliness.

The appeal of our Order to the members has been proved in these trying times. Our loss in membership has been small when compared with losses suffered by other organizations. The intelligent Elk values his membership in his Order in the exact ratio that he has investigated Elkdom's history and studied its philosophy.

The Elks are justly proud of their contribution to our country in the momentous struggle of 1917 and 1918. A million-dollar fund voted by the Grand Lodge immediately after we entered the war equipped and put into service in the field in France the first two base hospitals established there, financed the labor mercy of the Salvation Army, constructed and equipped a hospital for the treatment and rehabilitation of maimed soldiers, erected community houses in training camps, and established a revolving fund through which 40,000 disabled service men received vocational training. America's most beautiful building stands on the western shore of Lake Michigan as an everlasting tribute to the 70,000 Elks who served in the armed forces of our country and in memory of our 1,000 heroic dead. As a further tribute to our military heroes, we financed the construction and furnishing of Pershing Hall, the principal room in the American Legion Building in Paris.

The Present of the United States has often recognized the Elks as an organization peculiarly equipped to aid him in carrying out some national program for public betterment. State associations and subordinate lodges render distinctive public service in various ways. The spirit of Elk charity and Elk brotherly love finds expression in the restoration to usefulness of crippled children, scholarship funds for the education of our youth, fresh air camps and milk funds for underprivileged children, schools for the training of aliens seeking naturalization, and the Elk's National Home for indigent members. The Grand Lodge has provided for the permanency of these beneficent activities by establishing the Elks National Foundation. All the administrative expenses are borne by the Grand Lodge and every dollar of income from the sums placed in the hands of the trustees will be devoted exclusively to the charitable, benevolent and patriotic activities of Elkdom.

No activity of our Order is of greater benefit to our country than the training of our youth to become useful citizens. With the Communistic and other anti-American organizations spreading propaganda of hate and dissension among the school students of this country, we must increase our activity in this field. Every Lodge should have an Antlers organization and should appoint a committee of Brothers peculiarly adapted to the work to serve as advisers to this group of young men. From such organizations will graduate enthusiastic Elks and trained American citizens.

Easy times breed habits of indolence and indifference. The home virtues of fraternalism are scorned. Charity becomes mere alms-giving. Brotherly love is cast out of the heart as sentimental slush. Hard times, therefore, have their compensations. They stimulate us to greater efforts. In the hour of distress we seek the haven of fraternal companionship and give thanks to the founders of this benevolent Order. "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

"The ghost of unemployment and business stagnation is abroad in this land of plenty," he said. "Demands on our charity will be great, and we must prepare to meet them. Our country is entitled to impersonal constructive thinking and action from us. We must guard our Nation from the perils of Communism. We are the sons of a race of men and women who have won the admiration of the world for their independence, industry and efficiency. They did not falter when the going was hard. Fighting together we will restore happiness and prosperity to our land."

The shore dinner, served under the direction of Carl Simmons was a delightful and informal affair, the Elks eating where they wanted to, and as much as they wanted to, and finding that every item on the menu was to the queen's taste.

"The life of the party," it was called R. S. Chapman of Lewiston, who weighs over 300 pounds, and whose appetite was not appeased until he had gone through the dinner menu seven times, according to reliable witnesses. Rudy Vallee's father was another Elk much in the public eye.

AMONG THE RURAL CHILDREN TALK OF THE TOWN

An Illustration of the Educational Work That Is Now Being Done Throughout Knox County

The Knox County Association for Rural Religious Education wishes to congratulate thirteen boys and girls for their faithfulness in attending Sunday School. Through the courtesy of The Courier-Gazette and other friends the Association presents these future citizens of Knox County to those citizens who believe in and desire to maintain Christian America. Many children have responded very well indeed, to the opportunity offered them to attend Sunday School but these have maintained a perfect attendance over an extended period of time.

Nellie Teel of Benner Hill has her record in the Universalist Sunday School of Rockland. She wears the gold pin awarded by that school for attendance.

Marion, Katherine and Avis Taylor of Glen Cove were later than the others in starting to Sunday School, but once started, 12 o'clock found them in their place in the Universalist school.

Blanche Thomas, age 8, went to Rockland First Baptist Sunday School for the first time on the bus Nov. 6, and she has attended every Sunday since.

PAST STATE REGENTS D.A.R.

Were Guests At the Home of State Regent Danforth

At the invitation of Mrs. Florence Waugh Danforth, State Regent of the Maine Daughters of the American Revolution, the recently formed Club of Past State Regents of Maine met at Skowhegan Saturday, July 29, and enjoyed a delicious luncheon and social time at Judge and Mrs. Danforth's beautiful home overlooking the Kennebec Valley.

Past State Regents present were, in order of their service, Mrs. Susan F. Youlands, Biddeford; Mrs. Charles A. Creighton, Thomaston; Miss Louise H. Coburn, Skowhegan; Mrs. Charles W. Steele, Farmington; Mrs. Maude M. Merrick, Waterville; Mrs. Laura D. Warren, Dover-Foxcroft; Mrs. Victor A. Binford, Rockbury; State Secretary of the Daughters, and Mrs. Carlton F. Snow, Rockland. Regent of Lady Knox Chapter, were among the guests at the luncheon. At the business meeting which followed plans were discussed with Mrs. Snow for the meeting of the state advisory board which will be held in Rockland at the invitation of the Lady Knox Chapter in September or October, when a visit to Montpelier and the presence of the President General, Mrs. Magnus, will be among the high spots of the day's program.

Anna Taylor, age 11, and her cousin, Lillian Pendleton, age 10, were attending Rockland First Baptist Sunday School, but when given the privilege of going on the bus, Lillian said, "Oh, now we can get home in time for a hot dinner!" How many adults would eat a cold dinner rather than miss Sunday School?

This is Lillian Pendleton, mentioned in paragraph above.

Barbara Kennedy, age 6, was away in November, but from the first Sunday in December she was all ready when the bus turned the corner at Maverick and Old County road.

Richard S. Brown, age 9, plans to go to Sunday School just as regularly as public school—it's part of his program.

MET AT ROSE CLIFFS

An enjoyable outdoor meeting of the Garden Club was held Tuesday afternoon, July 26, in the beautiful birch grove at "Rose Cliffs," the attractive summer home of Mrs. E. M. Lawrence, Upper Beech street, with a large attendance of members and guests. It was voted to hold a flower show, Aug. 18 at the Universalist vestry, the admission to be 25 cents. Mrs. Maud Smith was appointed chairman of the flower exhibit, and will select her own committee. At the close of the business meeting, Miss Rita Smith of Thomaston was presented as the afternoon speaker. Her talk on "Iris" was delightfully informal and very interesting.

Pauline C. MacWilliams, Secretary.

Margaret Barrows has come from Glen Cove every Sunday since the first in November. She is five years old. Margaret's brother, Edgar, should be in the list and it was only because he understood his Sunday School teacher to say there would not be school that he missed one Sunday.

Joan Jenkins, age 5, is the youngest. She began attending the Pratt Memorial M. E. Sunday School, Nov. 6 and had perfect attendance until the Sunday School was changed to 10 o'clock. "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Russell Carter, age 9, of Hatchet Cove wanted to ride on the bus only when it was too stormy to walk. Sickness in May broke his good record at the Methodist Church at Friendship.

Carleen Miller, age 9, of East Friendship missed only one Sunday that stormy one in January, when the bus did not make the trip. One Sunday the family were planning to make a visit to Appleton, Carleen said, "Well, I'm going to Sunday School!"—and she did.

In these boys and girls you have seen faithfulness, persistence and dependability. These are traits of character which when rooted in religious convictions build citizens who can stand times of stress without losing faith in God and man. The Association wishes to express its thanks to those who, through their gifts, have made it possible for boys and girls to attend Sunday School.

The traveling to Lincolnville Beach over Route 1 is now very satisfactory. The detour through Lincolnville Center is no longer necessary.

* Golden rod has begun to bloom along the highways. We don't like to say it, but this means that summer is reaching its peak.

Coast Artillerymen from Battery E have been doing a good chore improving the sanitary and general appearance at Sandy Beach.

The playground baseball team lost to a Waldoboro team Wednesday evening 6 to 5, but won over Willis Anderson's team that same morning, 17-3.

The Rockland man who picked up two ten-dollar bills on Main street on different occasions may be pardoned if he occasionally looks down instead of straight ahead.

The freak dahlia season opened yesterday when Mrs. Addie Lawry of 19 Purchase street sent to this office a combination stalk which bore three blossoms so closely welded together that they would make a necking party envious.

A nickel silver teaspoon which once did service in Kittredge's Lunch was found a foot under the surface on Camden street in Rockport the other day by William Fitzgerald, a water company employee. Perhaps somebody knows how it got there.

A Rockland man tells us this story: "I saw a sample of candy in a store window tagged 39 cents a pound. Considering it a good buy I went in and stepping up to the candy counter I asked the handsome young lady clerk for a quarter pound. She weighed it out, put it into a carton and passed it to me. I handed her a dime and started to go out. 'Wait a moment' she said. I returned. She then took her pencil and sales pad, set down 39 with a 4 in front of it and began figuring. She kept me waiting what seemed to me several minutes. When she had completed her figuring she triumphantly exclaimed 'that's right'."

Some of the finest old homes in Augusta will be thrown open to the public Aug. 10, for the benefit of the school children's milk fund, the Parent-Teacher Association of the city sponsoring the activity. Foremost in interest will be the old Blaine House. Much State as well as National history clusters about this place. Old Fort Western, another mecca for the lovers of the antique, will also be opened, although the fort is open to the public during the summer months as usual. Others will include the Williams House on Cony street and the garden and home of Mrs. George Otis Spencer. Mrs. Burleigh Martin is general chairman.

John W. Fogler who was elected department commander of the Maine Grand Army at the recent convention in Rockland has issued General Orders No. 1. Speaking of the Rockland convention, he says: "With the diminishing numbers of Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, the attendance at the annual encampments grows less every year, but the 65th Encampment vied in interest with those of other years. Rockland proved a gracious host to the Encampment. From the moment of its inception her citizens worked with characteristic enterprise and liberality to make it a success. Her hospitable doors opened wide and every visitor to the Encampment bore away pleasant memories of this friendly town."

IT EATS THE HILLS

And Laughs At the Rough Roads—Essex Terraplane Does This

Not many motor cars climb Sherer's Lane from a standing start.

A Courier-Gazette reporter was a passenger in one which did the trick yesterday and the machine went over the top without the least apparent exertion, and the motor made no more fuss than as if the car had been rolling down an incline on a cement highway—which Sherer's lane is not.

This particular car is an Essex Terraplane—a newcomer in Rockland but already one of the most talked of institutions in the city. It simply floats over hills, and corresponds on earth to what the airplane is in the sky.

Equipped with a 70 h. p. engine this sedan is capable of doing 75 miles an hour. An expert on such matters would make a mental note of the modern equipment, vacuum clutch, pneumatic power, and synchromesh transmission, with silent second gear, but to the novice the main idea seemed to be that the machine shot over rough country roads with the ease and exhilarating effect that one experiences in an airplane.

The Essex Terraplane, handled locally by the Thomas-Nash Co., is manufactured in five standard and six special models.—adv.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

THE CALL OF THE OPEN SEA

I am tired of sailing my little boat far inside the harbor bay. I want to be out where the big ships float—Out on the deep, where the great ones are!

I can't be ever content to bide Where only ripples come and go; I must mount the crests of the waves quiescent.

And breatheless plunge to the trough below;

And should my frail craft prove too slight For storms that sweep those wide seas o'er, Better go down in the stirring fight Than drowse to death by the sheltering shore.

TREASURER MOREY

Unanimously Confirmed By the Aldermen At Last Night's Meeting

What may or may not have been a compromise was seen last night in the confirmation of Charles H. Morey as city treasurer and Dr. F. O. Bartlett as city physician.

Mayor Richardson has repeatedly presented the name of J. E. Stevens for city treasurer and the Republican board of aldermen has repeatedly failed to confirm that nomination. Last night, to the surprise of those not in the inner councils, His Honor presented Mr. Morey's name, and the present incumbent received unanimous endorsement. Dr. Bartlett, Democrat, was confirmed by a vote of 4 to 3. Two nominations were rejected—Benjamin B. Bisbee, for road commissioner, 5 to 2; and E. W. Pike, for city solicitor, 4 to 3.

W. S. Petter, chief engineer announced the suspension of Fred L. Cheyne, captain of the chemical, naming among other charges drunkenness, disorderly conduct and refusal to obey orders. It was voted to have a hearing next Monday night, and announcement was made that it would be private.

The National Guard was granted a permit to hold a carnival on Holmes street the week of Aug. 15.

The petition of Leroy Coombs and 22 others for a hydrant on Limerock street was tabled indefinitely.

It was voted to build a new entrance to the Ward 2 polling booth. The present arrangement resembles a mystic maze.

Ernest P. Jones was granted a license as fireman at the Purchase street school.

The request of Dr. J. A. Richan for the removal of an alleged dangerous tree on the neighboring Farnsworth estate was left to "the proper channels."

Dr. and Mrs. William Rogers Chapman are to give a garden party and tea at Bethel Inn Saturday, having extended invitations to the soloists and friends who assisted them in making Chapman Day at Eastern Music Camp July 23, a great success. Among these will be Mrs. Elhel Pyne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison, Erle B. Renwick, William Craig, and Mme. Marie Sundelius, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera House, as honor guests. Mrs. Lucille Potter Lavin, Mrs. Martha Hawes Hill, Miss Marcia Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Furlong and others from Portland will also be among the guests.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

Adopted by Knox Memorial Association At Its Annual Meeting

In recognition of the death of two of its prominent members, the Knox Memorial Association at its annual meeting on July 25 adopted the following resolutions presented by Judge E. K. Gould.

Whereas, the Knox Memorial Association has suffered a great loss in the demise of Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, whose interest in this memorial to General Knox was constant and enthusiastic, and who realized in its completion one of her dreams. Therefore, be it, Resolved, That the Knox Memorial Association in the annual meeting assembled register its high regard for the departed and our sincere grief at her demise. We cheerfully pay tribute to her as a woman of high ideals who had a lofty conception of life's duties and obligations and met them with a conscientious fulfillment. We offer to our distinguished life member and generous benefactor, Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, our sincere sympathy in the loss of his dear wife and believe the Infinite will support and sustain him in this sad hour.

Resolved, That the Recording Secretary be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to Mr. Curtis and cause same to be published in The Courier-Gazette.

Whereas, death has again invaded the ranks of the Knox Memorial Association and removed from our midst Mrs. Henry Thatcher Fowler, whose interest and activity in connection with the creation of the Memorial to the ancestor of her distinguished husband were constant and efficient. Therefore be it, Resolved, That the Knox Memorial Association deeply deplore the passing of Mrs. Fowler and extend to her husband, Dr. Henry Thatcher Fowler, our heartfelt sympathy and the assurance of our highest regard. May the hand of affliction thus laid upon him be borne with fortitude and with the richest blessing and comforting care of the Almighty Father be with him in this dark hour of grief.

Resolved, That the Recording Secretary be instructed to furnish Dr. Fowler with a copy of these resolutions and that the same be published in The Courier-Gazette.

MAKING A NEW ROAD

Old Landmarks Being Removed At "Blackington's Corner" For the Improvement

The old McIntosh store which stood for so many years near the head of Maverick street was picked off its foundation one day last week and toted across the street to the R. M. Packard premises on the Old County road. The building belonged to the Packard estate and in more recent years has served as a garage. It was bought by the city through private subscription as one of the steps necessary to provide for the altered location of the highway. The man who did the moving was, of course, that expert juggler of real estate, Fred M. Blackington.

Across the street on the corner diagonally from the McIntosh building Mr. Blackington next paid attention to the old Orbeton store, which ceased, long since, its busy mission at The Highlands, and whose removal was also necessary if the plans of the highway engineers were to be fulfilled.

This structure, which has stood at the junction of the Old County road and Lake Avenue is 62 feet long, and found to be in surprisingly good condition. It was given to Mr. Blackington in return for its removal, and was promptly sawed in two, offering a good buy—two in fact—for somebody looking for such an article. It will have been removed this week, and as soon as it is off the spot the engineers will begin laying stakes for the new road which will have eliminated two bad corners.

An improvement is also to be made on the sharp curve near the cemetery, including the construction of a retaining wall.

A few weeks hence when traffic is making this safe and easy crossing of the Old County road they may well return thanks to Charles Small of Old County road, who was one of the pioneers in advocating the change; and to Alderman Lafayette W. Benner of Ward 2 whose persistent efforts will have made the dream a realization.

UNION'S NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Rapid Progress Is Being Made and It Will Be Ready For Occupancy September 15

Work which began May 14 on the new combination school building in Union has progressed so rapidly that the big structure will be ready to receive the finish in about 10 days. An expert in construction work who has been in close touch with the building of this structure is The Courier-Gazette's authority for the statement that the work is being done in absolute accordance with the specifications, and that informant also gives it as his opinion that the town may count itself fortunate in having the contract carried through at the price indicated.

The new school building has a frontage of 127 feet. One wing is 65 feet, 4 inches, and the other 61 feet, 10 inches, with a gymnasium 77 feet, 10 inches by 47 feet, 8 inches. The two entrances are 24x9 feet. Provision is made for a boiler room, fuel room, study hall 25x65 feet, science room 26x28 feet, two lunch rooms and four toilets.

The materials embodied in the structure include 100,000 feet of lumber and 400 bags of cement.

The contract was taken by a Skowhegan firm—W. H. Hinman, Inc., and the superintendent of construction is F. C. Giffmore, whose energy, and ability to get team work out of the employees are the chief reasons assigned for getting the results which have been obtained.

W. T. Smith of Rockland is keeping pace with the plumbing and heating contract.

The main structure will be ready for occupancy Sept. 15.

WHAT WE'RE UP AGAINST

Eastbound Traffic Routed Away From Rockland—The Lincolnville Beach Road Open

A Bath Times editorial which carries local interest, reads thus: "Brunswick people have been complaining that the Maine Publicity Bureau has been directing east bound traffic through Lewiston instead of through Brunswick. This the Bureau denies and stands ready for the closest investigation of its routings. To the writer a statement has been made by Harrie B. Coe, manager of the Bureau, who says that there is absolutely no truth in the statement that the Bureau is routing travel through Lewiston against the Brunswick route. Mr. Coe says:

"As a matter of fact, because of the new cement highway to Brunswick and because the road was torn up last year, we are giving the preference, if any, to the Brunswick route. We are sending people via Augusta, China and Hampden for travel to Bangor and points east. For travel to Bar Harbor we are directing it to Augusta, via Brunswick or via Lewiston and from Augusta to Belfast via China, Albion and Freedom and then Route No. 1 across the new bridge to Bucksport. This takes them over a short construction at Orla, but it is unavoidable. Because of construction on Route No. 1 between Wiscasset and Waldoboro and between Camden and Belfast we shall continue to do this." Mr. Coe says that if business is not up to last year's level it is because the tourist travel is off in volume and not because of unfairness in the Bureau's methods."

In its news columns the Times says: "Motors to Eastern Maine are being advised at various information booths and filling stations west of Brunswick not to follow Route 1 from Brunswick through Bath, Rockland to Belfast on account of the construction work at Edgemoor and Damariscotta. This accounts for the loss of travel in this section. It is hardly fair because there are good detours around the construction between Wiscasset and Damariscotta by the way of Sheepscot Bridge and farther east beyond Waldoboro motorists can take Route 220 through Washington and Liberty which will take them to Belfast, and avoid the construction between Camden and Lincolnville. This highway 220 from Waldoboro is a fine direct improved gravel road all the way and is very scenic."

Knox County business men, and proprietors of summer resorts have known all along that they were victims of distressful road conditions in Lincoln County, and have included the circumstance in their profit and loss column, but it has come time to acquaint the traveling public with the facts in regard to travel between Rockland and Bangor.

The work in Lincolnville has progressed to such an extent that Route No. 1 at that point is in much better condition than ever before in its history. While the road has not received its tar surface, and in some spots is a bit rocky, it is a boulevard compared with the old road and about twice as wide. Steep grades have been leveled and depressions filled, and from Rockland to Lincolnville there is "nothing to worry about" as the current saying runs. The detour through Center Lincolnville was an admirable makeshift, but is no longer necessary.

ROCKINGHAM PARK

Grand Circuit Races This Week Attracting Wide-spread Attention

Dyed in the wool turf enthusiasts have their eyes on Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., this week, and it is quite likely that there will be a number of Knox County groups in the stands. From the attractive word picture painted by Fred Green of the Boston Transcript these points are clipped:

All of the prominent stables have entered their strings. About $50,000 in prize money will be awarded over the five days. These are the largest purses of the year on the Grand Circuit and the largest ever offered within the Granite State, which always has been outstanding in development of harness racing.

Wednesday the $10,000 Marshall House trot will be raced, together with a $1500 event for three-year-old trotters, a $1000 race for 2:16 pacers and one overnight event. Thursday's program will feature the $10,000 Parker House stake for pacers, a $1500 event for two-year-old trotters, a $1000 two-year-old pace and a single overnight event. Friday, the final day, will be one of sizzling action as free-for-all trotters and pacers will be seen in $1000 events, there will be a $1500 race for 2:13 trotters and a three-year-old pace with a value of $1000.

One feature of the five days will be the opportunity given to size up candidates for the $50,000 Hambleton Stake which will be raced at Goshen, N. Y., on Aug. 17.

Wednesday, a famous son of New Hampshire will be honored—Walter R. Cox, outstanding trainer and driver and brother of a former Governor of Massachusetts. Cox began his career near Dover on the Old Granite State track. Now he has amassed a fortune but remains in the game for the fun that it holds. He has a fine stable and many of his string will race during the week.

STRAND THEATRE

For the first time in her screen career, Constance Bennett sings in "What Price Hollywood" coming Wednesday and Thursday.

In revealing the talent which heretofore only her close friends knew she possessed, the blonde star introduces to America a sensational French waltz hit that she brought with her from Paris. It is "Parlez-Moi d'Amour" by J. Lenoir. She also sings the popular number, "Can't We Talk It Over," performing both numbers for scenes of the production which shows films in the making. In this unvarnished and highly colored picture of the screen colony at work and play, Miss Bennett is supported by Lowell Sherman, Neil Hamilton, Gregory Ratoff and others.—adv.

St. George 3, Rockland 1

Rockland needed heavy artillery to break down the St. George defense last night, but had only a pop gun, and so the largest crowd of the season saw the Champions from Tenants Harbor take another long stride toward the pennant. Maurice Simmons allowed only one hit and that was of the infield type when Gray was declared safe at first. In the opinion of some spectators the runner was out, but the umpire's decision prevails, and as no fielding error was made Simmons did not quite attain the coveted no-hit record.

Middleton, the Vinalhaven flash, was advertised to pitch for Rockland, and a large proportion of the big crowd was on hand with that expectation, but for some reason not given he was not sent to the mound.

So St. George's opponent was the one man in the League it fears—Chummy Gray. An analysis of the game shows how closely the two aces were matched. Gray gave four hits and two bases on balls, while Simmons was allowing one of each, but on the other hand Simmons hit two batters, so that the margin of difference was very small. None of the four runs made by the two teams was earned.

The rival outfields traveled neck and neck until the eighth when Gray faltered for the first and only time in the game, giving three passes. Mixed in with these were Monaghan's sacrifice, Archer's single and an error by McPhee, netting two runs.

In the sixth Davidson had made a three bagger only to be retired at the plate on a nice throw by Chapies, who was handicapped last night by a bad bone sore, but who nevertheless accepted six of his seven chances.

Other fielding of note was done by Oney, Morrissey, Monaghan and Dimick.

An interesting personage in the bleachers was Al Davidson, whose pitching in Knox County some 15 years ago was one of the features of Maine baseball, because of his terrific speed. He sat with his old teammate, Henry McDonald, who has filled many brilliant pages of Knox County baseball history.

Waldoboro 9, Camden 8

An interesting seasaw contest, which was extended into the 10th inning, was staged on the Camden grounds Saturday afternoon, and once more the luck pursued Manager Thomas' fine aggregation of youngsters.

Manager Brown introduced a youngster by the name of Cooney as the starting pitcher for Waldoboro, but though he had plenty of speed he lacked control, and after passing two men and allowing two hits, with an infield error adding to the disaster, he was removed in favor of Carleton. Three runs had meantime been accumulated, and there was still a man on second. Fowler's single advanced Thomas to third, and the situation looked anything but rosy for pitcher No. 2, Leonard. Hit to Carleton who retired Thomas at the plate, and a snappy throw by Burns completed a double play on Kuhn's sack. Prince was out, Benner to Kuhn, and the inning ended with a score of 3 to 1 in Camden's favor.

The seventh inning opened with the score 5 to 4 in favor of Camden. Two bases on balls and a pair of errors by Joe Leonard, who otherwise played a brilliant game, coupled with hits by Carleton and Sherman, put Waldoboro into a two-run lead, which was narrowed by one in Camden's half when Daley walked and Thomas and Boynton made successive singles.

Waldoboro scored another in the eighth, and looked to have the game pretty well sewed up, but Fowler's timely hit and a pair of errors gave Camden two in the ninth to tie the score.

Nobody was leaving the ground at this exciting stage of the performance. Kuhn opened the 10th by grounding out to Fowler. Benner hit a sharp one into the box, and Benner made a quick recovery of it, only to make a wild heave to Wadsworth, leaving Benner perched on second. Brewer's single advanced him to third, and he scored when Fowler erred on Young's grounder. Carleton fled to Daley, Reed walked, and Boggs was out, Plaisted to Wadsworth.

While the contest registered ten errors there was also some excellent ball playing, and topping the list was the one-hand shoestring catch which "Gabby" Fowler made of Reed's liner in the second inning. Fowler somersaulted after making the "stab," but came up triumphantly with the ball in his gloved hand, and got the applause which was so richly due him. It was a circus stunt de luxe.

The Camden outfield proved its worth whenever Waldoboro flies wandered in that direction, and the Fowler, Young and Reed combination acquitted itself with equal credit.

It may not have been Brewer's birthday, but he was celebrating something, for he made four hits, and was a distinct thorn in Benner's side. And it is equally true that Boynton with his three hits (almost a fourth) was a thorn in Carleton's side.

The game was replete with close decisions, which gave general satisfaction, however.

WEATHER
The fine days of late July have now given place to ones of August date-line, but of the same pleasant variety. Always fortunate in this corner of Maine, August heat is not to be dreaded here. This morning is 61 at 8 o'clock, wind west; yesterday noon was 69, wind southwest. Local showers are likely to come tomorrow. It was a fine weekend and many motor parties took the trail up Cadillac Mountain and other nearer beauty spots.

Smack Madelyn & Flora, Capt. Charles Carver, arrived yesterday with 1000 gallons scallops.

Mrs. Geneva Upham has opened a Community Shop on Broad street, and would welcome an appropriate name.

Huntley-Hill Post auxiliary meets Wednesday at 7 p. m. instead of tonight when the hall is otherwise in use.

Rockland Lions are eagerly awaiting tomorrow's meeting when the speaker will be Gilbert Patten, Camden's distinguished novelist.

Rev. Fr. Drury of Providence has been a visitor in the city the past few days. He was formerly assistant pastor at St. Bernard's Church.

At a special meeting of the Fire Department at 7 o'clock tonight action will be taken in regard to attending the muster in Skowhegan Aug. 20.

There will be a meeting of the Republican City Women's Club at the court house Wednesday evening at 7:30. All Republican women are invited to attend.

The older Salinas arrived this morning for trials on the Rockland course. The Trial Board came by rail this forenoon, and is quartered at The Thorndike.

A feature of the premises at The Beach Inn, Lincolnville is the boatload of nautismatics and games on the southern lawn. The soil was scientifically mixed, and even John is amazed at the result.

Fred B. Clark, former Rockland boy, came from Portland to attend the Elks convention. His companions on the trip were Lieut. Harry Powers and James Whitmore of the Police Department, and Elton Hayden.

Congressman John E. Nelson of Augusta has accepted the Woman's Educational Club's invitation to address it on current issues at informal outing with Mrs. E. M. Lawrence at Rose Cliffs, Beech street, Aug. 16.

The winners in the contest in obtaining the greatest number of three letter words, from Mrs. Fred Owen, Baker, Pease, were: Mrs. Fred Thomas, first prize of $5; and Mrs. F. D. Lamb of this city, second prize of $3.

An invitation has been extended by the Thomaston Garden Club to the Rockland Garden Club to attend an illustrated lecture on "Landscaping" to be given in the Baptist Church Friday evening. The program will also include music.

"Charley's Aunt" is being presented at the Surry Playhouse this week and next Saturday the management will present Stewart Baird, baritone, in a program of personalities, musical and otherwise.

Edwin Libby Relief Corps will hold a picnic for members at Gray Army hall Thursday, with supper at 6. Those not solicited are requested to take sweets or salads. The two handsome handmade quilts, made by Mrs. Maud Cables and displayed for the first time at the past presidents' picnic at Crescent Beach last Wednesday, will be out for inspection. These quilts are of intriguing patterns, one of them a copy of a quilt 150 years old, in her grandfather's family.

Officers elected for the coming year by the Josslyn Botanical Society at the business meeting of the recent session in Damariscotta are: President, Arthur H. Norton, curator of the Portland Museum of Natural History; vice president, Dr. F. H. Steinmetz of University of Maine; secretary, Prof. Fay Hyland, also of University of Maine; treasurer, Mrs. Annie Nichols of Portland. The meetings of the 1932 session followed the usual program of discussion and field work, and a number of botanical specimens of great interest were collected. Miss Edith Bicknell of this city attended the meetings.

August is going to be hot, that Lewiston weather prophet contends, the hottest of the summer, with the temperature normal to above normal and the precipitation normal to below normal. The month will come in warm and sultry and go out showery, he says. There will be three storm periods during the month. The first from the 3rd to 9th; the second and worst, if there is any difference, from the 15th to the 21st and the third from the 27th to the end of the month. We are due for the worst thunder storms of the summer during the month, says the prophet and he further predicts each disturbance during the last week, that are "liable to be left anywhere," though he thinks probably their greatest force will be along the equatorial belt.

HAPPY CHILDREN

The annual blueberry pie and peanut contest took place at the public playground Friday. The boys eating the pie and the girls hunting the peanuts. Mrs. Benjamin Bucklin

Mrs. Benjamin Bucklin of Malden, Mass., a old resident of this place was buried from the Cushing parlors last Thursday. The funeral services were largely attended by her old neighbors and friends, and by whom she was highly esteemed. Mrs. Bucklin was a woman of strong christian character and full of loving kindness for all. She is survived by an adopted son, A. G. Bucklin of Malden with whom she made her home in her declining years, also several nephews and a niece, and by these she was looked upon in the light of a mother. Interment was in the cemetery here by the side of her husband who died several years ago from the sorrow of whose death she never fully recovered. The bearers were Nathan, Charles, Leslie and Oscar Copeland.

MEMORIAL TO RISE ON FORTRESS SITE

Old French Defenses Are Discovered by Laborers.

Bar-le-Duc.—As excavations for the construction of an American monument were being made on the peak of Montfaucon, in the Argonne, the foundations of an old fortress built there by Godefroy de Bouillon in 1076 were discovered.

The American monument is to commemorate the 1312 soldiers of the United States army who were killed there in September, 1918, when the position was taken from the Germans. The old fort is said to have been destroyed and reconstructed in the Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries and finally burned with the village during the Thirty Years' war by the Swedes.

Godefroy de Bouillon was a young vassal of Emperor Henry IV, from whom he received the title of Marquis of Anvers at the death of Godefroy-le-Bossu. The fortress was dismantled when the Duc de Basses Lorraine left with the Crusaders.

Explorations are being made by Baron Renaux, curator of the Verdun museum and library, under the auspices of the ministry of fine arts, in collaboration with Canon Almond, historical savant of the Meuse, and other authorities. Among the finds so far are an entrance stairway, a series of galleries of different sizes, small rooms in one of which was a stone bench, and several piles of burned wheat, indicating the destruction of 1636. These were all discovered at a depth of eight or ten meters.

The American battle monument is to be made of reinforced concrete faced with Burgundy stone. It will be 200 feet high, overlooking the entire battlefield. Dedication ceremonies are scheduled for this summer, unless present excavations postpone the work.

Car Breaks Record With No Oil in Crankcase

Elgin, Ill.—A world's motor "dry-run" record is claimed to have been established here recently, when an automobile processed with a new lubricating fluid was driven 318.7 miles in 13 hours, 35 minutes, with absolutely no oil in its crankcase.

Mayor Myron M. Lehman and a group of Elgin business men witnessed mechanics drain all of the oil from the car's crankcase and padlock the motor hood at the start of the test.

City and state officials checked the car in at the end of the test and certified to the mileage covered. Numbers 5 and 6 connecting rod bearings were burned out, but otherwise the motor was in perfect condition.

The fluid used in conditioning the car for the test is a concentrated extract, which when introduced into a motor with the regular oil and with the gasoline, penetrates the pores of the metal and then forms a thin film over the outer surface of the bearings. This provides not only a self-lubricating surface on the metal, but a built-in supply underneath which, when released by frictional heat due to an inadequate amount of oil, furnishes the necessary lubrication until its own reserve has been drawn out of the pores and exhausted.

STOWAWAY ENJOYS SIGHTS OF LONDON

Very Simple the Way La Raviere Tells It.

London.—Strict as immigration officials and steamship officers are, it is still possible to cross the Atlantic as a stowaway, eat two square meals daily for seven days while mingling with the passengers and crew, and then enter Great Britain without so much as a question from the authorities.

Raymond La Raviere, twenty-eight, who says he lived at 2432 Marquette road, Chicago, did it. Travelers who have experienced the thoroughness of the European investigations of foreigners at ports and frontiers, plus the usual ticket and passport inspections of stewards and others aboard ship, merely go through formalities in no way essential. La Raviere proved it.

He boarded the Olympic in New York 15 hours before the vessel sailed, made himself comfortable, traveled to Southampton, landed, tramped to London, and was going for a walk with two newly found girl friends in Drury Lane some time later before the police called him to account. Then he was fined $10 or given one month in Wormwood Scrubs prison for the offense of entering England illegally.

See the Sights.

Afterwards he restored himself to the trust of the officials and spent a month doing the tower, houses of parliament, Westminster abbey, Kew gardens, and other points of interest.

La Raviere was even given a police registration card such as all Americans and other foreigners who stay in England any length of time must have.

It all sounds easy as he explains it.

He walked up the Olympic gang-plank, stored his luggage in the crew's quarters, and went for a walk. He came back at eight, got his bag, and picked out an unoccupied third-class stateroom. Mattresses and other unused bedding were stored in the room, and out of these he built a screen to shield himself from the door. Then he made his bed behind and turned in for the night. When he woke up next morning he was at sea.

La Raviere stayed in his stateroom until evening, when he grew hungry. So he changed his clothes and went on deck. Then he learned that the night crew was about to be fed, so he dashed back and got into his seaman's clothing in time to follow the crew in to supper. He helped himself and nobody asked any questions.

He made this quick change twice a day for seven days. He ate lunch with the day crew and at night he fed with a different watch. Nobody suspected. The rest of the time he lured in deck chairs and mingled with the passengers.

La Raviere meant to debark at Cherbourg, but found this impossible because of the landing card necessary to board the tender. So he went on to Southampton and was unlucky enough to arrive there in mid-afternoon. He saw two gang-planks taken aboard, one for the passengers and the other for the crew, who immediately began unloading laundry. Then he did his quick change for the last time. He left his bag behind to avoid customs officers and walked off the ship with the crew.

On to London.

He was unable to get out of the dock yards at Southampton because the only exit is through a gate in a high steel wire fence and this is guarded by immigration officers.

But he waited until dark and then jumped the fence, the last hurdle of his crossing taken. Then he walked to London, a fraction less than 80 miles away.

He confessed to a policeman guarding the door of an American organization in London that he entered as a stowaway without a passport. This policeman, La Raviere claims, refused to arrest him then, but when he saw him on the following day strolling with two pretty English girls he put him under arrest and took him to the immigration office in Bow street. He was convicted of entering the country illegally and on the same day took him to Wormwood Scrubs, a prison on the outskirts of London.

There he says his treatment was of the best.

After his sentence was finished La Raviere was sent automatically to Brixton prison to await deportation. He appealed to the home office for release and to polish off his experiences he was allowed his freedom in the name of Sir Herbert Samuel, home secretary. Throughout his difficulties American consular officials were anxious to help him, but they could do nothing without proof of his American citizenship. This he could not supply without a passport, and it was necessary to write to Chicago for his birth certificate.

Those from Harbor Light Chapter who are planning to attend the O.E.S. Field Day at Penobscot View Grange hall tomorrow should bear in mind that members are to provide their own food and dishes. Coffee will be served at the hall. Supper at 6 o'clock.

The annual mid-summer fair of the Baptist Ladies' Sewing Circle takes place Wednesday afternoon on the church lawn. Many attractive and useful articles will be displayed on the handwork tables, and candy, cooked food and flowers will be on sale.

Mrs. Mabel Withee spent the weekend as guest of her brother Rev. G. Lou Pressey at Stonington.

Ralph Blakely with her daughter Barbara and guests, Mr. and Mrs. John Green, left here Saturday morning motoring to Portland where Miss Barbara remained for a week with relatives while the others proceeded to Boston, the Greens enroute to their home at Chestnut Hill, Pa., and Mrs. Blakely meeting Mrs. Fred Crozier of New York city who comes to Maine for a month's visit.

WALDOBORO

Mrs. Carl Burdick, who has been at her Martin's Point camp for a month, has returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William Black with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of Castine their house guests, have been in Bar Harbor.

Mrs. Mary G. Elkins is in Portland. Miss Jessie L. Keene and Miss Payne M. Keene are at Martin's Point.

S. A. Jones, Miss Helen Jones and Mrs. Albert Riley and son Stephen have been on a motor trip to Quebec.

Garden Club Exhibit

Gladioli and dahlias, the choicest products of Waldoboro gardens, will be stressed at the annual show of the Garden Club to be held at the Hotel Waldoboro the latter part of August. It is hoped that the growers, who are so successful with these beautiful flowers, will make a special effort to exhibit the specimens at that time. The classes have been arranged by the committee in charge of the show as follows:

Class A—Exhibit of cut flowers: Gladioli, dahlias, independents. Class B—Single choice specimens: Gladioli, dahlias, independents. The word independents in these classes covers choice flowers of one variety that the grower would like to exhibit. Class C—Exhibition of house plants. Class D—Arrangements of evergreen sprays. Class E—Exhibit of tea tables; exhibitor to furnish tables and accessories. Class F—Occasional table for hall. Class G—Mantel arrangements to be in keeping with an observance of the George Washington anniversary. Class H—Arrangement suitable for church. Class I—Junior class. Arrangement of cut flowers open to children of ten years or less; miniature garden in dish, open to children over ten years. The dishes for these gardens will be furnished by the club. Children may call for them at the home of Miss Payne M. Keene, president of the club, one week before the show. Ribbon prizes are awarded in all classes. Mrs. Russell S. Cooney entertains the club next Tuesday afternoon.

(Solution to Previous Puzzle)

Too Well Known

All reputable monarchs years ago kept jesters who were allowed considerable liberty of speech. The story is told of Ponce, jester to Queen Elizabeth of England, who so embarrassed her majesty by his remarks that he was forbidden her presence. In time he was taken back, however, and the very first time the queen and jester again met, the queen in a gracious humor said, "Come on, Ponce, now, we shall hear of our faults." "No, madam," said the jester, "I never talk of what is discoursed by all the world."

Snuff at French Court

In France snuff was first used by Catherine de Medici and was freely taken at court during the latter half of the sixteenth century. It was the nobility of the French court that initiated the fashion of snuff, plus the luxurious scents and lavish boxes. A story is told of the royal physician, Monsieur Fagon, denouncing snuff taking in an impassioned public oration, and losing his effect because he became so excited that he forgot himself and took a huge pinch at the height of his rhetorical outburst.

Coin Merely Curiosity

The so-called "peace" dollar was placed in circulation in January, 1922. The coin was made in commemoration of the arms conference at Washington. It has a new and very youthful head of Liberty on one side, and on the reverse a dove upon a mountain top, clutching an olive branch, struck by the rays of the sun, with the word "peace" beneath. This coin was not a regular issue and has been gathered in by collectors and by persons who wanted it as a keepsake.

Reason for Scottish Thrift

Scotland throughout its history has been a poor country. Its land, with small exceptions, was infertile, its climate bad, with long hard winters and short, frequently dry summers, and it has also, through its history, been the scene of much strife, both foreign and civil. To surmount such conditions a people must be of a more frugal, industrious and persevering habit, and the exercise of these virtues with the times have developed into a hardness and thrift which have been commented on unfavorably and undoubtedly much exaggerated.

Caterpillar's Ears

Caterpillars have shown the ability to hear. Certain sounds result in sudden movements of the body. But where are their ears? Doctor Allard's experiment showed that the caterpillar's sense of hearing is aided by hairs that absorb sound. To prove this, experimenters coated the hairs with shellac or weighted them with water or flour or even singed them off. Then, when noises were made, the caterpillar did not respond. The fact that its hairs had been deadened made it deaf.

300-Year-Old Bean Sprouts in Museum

San Antonio, Texas.—A large white bean, picked up in the ruins of Grand Quivira and believed to be 300 years old, has sprouted into a living stalk at White Memorial museum here.

The bean was found in an excavation 70 feet from the surface at ruins located 100 miles south of Santa Fe, N. M. Franciscan missionaries founded a mission there in 1629, and prior to that time the Piro Indians maintained a settlement there called Tabira.

The bean was soaked in water for five hours March 19. Less than two weeks later a stalk six inches tall had grown from the seed.

WITH AN EYE TO BUSINESS

Integrity of Corner Drug Store Well Known Throughout This Section of State—Story of Its Growth Is Most Interesting

Few business establishments are called upon to meet the exacting requirements made on a drug store and scarcely any business man faces the extreme responsibility placed upon the registered pharmacist. The Corner Drug Store Inc. meets and exceeds the standards set for a modern pharmacy, rendering to the citizens of this community a drug and accessory service of the highest and most dependable type.

This modern establishment is located at the junction of Limerock and Main streets in the heart of Rockland's business section, deriving its name from the location. It has been a drug store for many years under several managements and it figures prominently in the history of Main street's development. The store has steadily kept pace with the times and 1932 finds it with equipment of the latest type prepared to give complete up-to-the-minute drug store service.

The proprietor is Richard A. Booth, a registered druggist well and favorably known to the trade through 33 years spent in the business. He has made notable improvements in the Corner Drug Store during his incumbency of two years, giving the store full benefit of his splendid training. It is one of the most attractive stores in Maine with its woodwork immaculate, its shelves clean and orderly, glass ware like crystal and soda fountain bright and gleaming. Fro-Joy ice cream is handled and a great favorite with all comers is the remarkable chocolate syrup made by Mr. Booth from his own formula.

In this heavily stocked but orderly store may be found every drug store necessity and in the modern version that covers a tremendous range. Whatever the need, Corner Drug Store can supply it. The accessories to the drug line prove most pleasing. Highest quality candies including Whitman's, Park Avenue and Durants; a very complete line of cosmetics and allied products of the best varieties—cameras, toilet goods and the hundred and one odd items that please the eye. The cigar, cigarette and tobacco department is one to please the connoisseur, its full, fresh stock suiting every taste.

"The prescription department is a source of special pride to Mr. Booth and his associates for it is equipped with every device for accurate, dependable service. Mr.

Booth is assisted in this department by Clifton Cross, also a registered druggist. The result is a drug service of entire dependability highly pleasing to physicians and public. The entire "back shop" of this store is a place of pleasing order and arrangement, light and airy and accessible at all times. The compact office is located on a mezzanine floor at the rear in the interest of economy of space.

Probably the greatest surprise to be found in this store of pleasant surprises is the high posted, well ventilated basement. This section violates most basement practice for it is as spotless and business like as the main floor above. Here is found a great reserve stock carefully arranged so that every article is readily accessible and, as is the case in the stock on the main floor, any approaching shortage of any article may be promptly noted and new stock ordered. Every article is arranged and classified and this orderly cataloging enables Mr. Booth to keep a full stock at all times. The basement is brilliantly lighted and it is here that the syrups for the soda fountain are prepared daily. Here too all incoming merchandise is opened, checked and marked.

The public is assured of that pleasing combination quality, fair price and courtesy at the Corner Drug Store. A pleasant feature of the store is the personality of Kendrick Libby who fulfills to perfection the role of drug clerk with unflinching courtesy.

The real trouble at Washington is that the Government has been living beyond our incomes.—Palm Beach Post.

Preserve Now to Aid Needy During Winter

By Jane Rogers

AN excellent way for you to do your bit in helping the unemployed is to suggest to your bridge club, or your community or church organization, that the members work together one day a week this summer, putting up fruits and vegetables for distribution to needy families next winter.

Preserves possess a number of outstanding advantages for this purpose. They are high in food and health value, furnish vitamins and minerals, while the sugar content is an unequalled source of energy. The expense involved is small. The products of orchard and garden promise to be unusually cheap, and sugar is at its lowest price in history.

Most women have their own favorite fruit preserve recipes, but are not so familiar with the recipes for preserving vegetables. Below is a vegetable preserving recipe that will give your group a start in a worthy undertaking.

String or Butter Beans

Discard any imperfect beans, wash thoroughly and rinse in several waters. Cut in desired size, cover with boiling water and cook for five to ten minutes, uncovered. Then fill into sterilized pint jars, adding one teaspoonful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt to each jar. Cover with the water in which they were cooked, adjust sterilized rubbers and covers loosely. Place in wash boiler, filled to within an inch of the tops of jars with hot water, bring to boiling point and process (boil) for three hours. Lift from water, tighten covers securely, turn jars upside down to cool.

Mrs. Charles Libby and son Gardner of Wollaston, Mass., arrived here Saturday.

Herbert Cassie and friends of Portland are in town for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noyes and daughter of Providence arrived Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Schofield and son Arthur Frederick came from Rockland Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Morong of Rockport was called here Saturday by the sudden death of her mother Mrs. Margaret Libby.

Walter Lyford, Malcolm Hopkins, George Healey and Edward White have returned from Port McKinley.

Fred W. Suter, treasurer and secretary of the International Quarrymen Workers Union of Barre, Vt., and Mr. Ledger of Brooklyn, N. Y., were in town Saturday. Mr. Ledger spoke in the evening at Memorial hall on "Labor and Conditions of the Country."

Elmer Coombs is in Boston where he will visit relatives for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Norton of Dearborn, Mass., are guests of his sister Mrs. H. W. Fifield.

At Memorial hall Aug. 9 there will be a concert and ball under the auspices of the Village Improvement Society. Among the special attractions will be vocal and instrumental numbers by local artists and summer visitors. The entire program will be announced in a later issue of this paper.

Mrs. L. E. Williams and daughter Ruth were recent Rockland visitors. William Bell of Everett, Mass., is a guest at the home of Mrs. J. T. Dickenson on Lane's Island.

Allen Middleton is doing fine work as a pitcher for the Knox County Twilight League on the Rockland team.

Miss Sara Bunker entertained three tables at bridge Thursday evening at her home on High street. A buffet lunch was served and the table decorations were of orange and white artistically arranged. The will avail themselves of the opportunity to get their youngsters in the best possible shape for the coming year.

SUMMER VISITORS

Occasionally one hears the remark: "I did not see anything in The Courier-Gazette about my guests." A little reflection will show the impossibility of obtaining the names of all summer visitors who come to Rockland in July and August. The paper desires to note such arrivals (the guests themselves look for it), and to this end asks its readers to send in such items, either directly to the office, or to the society reporter, Mrs. Gladys Morgan, whose telephone number is 794. Social events as well as arrivals and departures are desired.

Miss Helen Whittemore returned Saturday to West Roxbury after spending two weeks with her uncle George Newcomb.

Miss Evelyn Manson of Vinalhaven and Mrs. E. K. Gould of Rockland are guests of Mrs. Frank D. Rowe today.

Miss Grace Lawrence, R.N., who has served Knox County so faithfully and who has made so many strong friendships in Warren, is soon to be transferred to Lincoln County, and will make her headquarters at Damascus. Miss Lawrence expects to visit Warren several times a year to see the children, but another will take over practically most of her work here. The people of the town are sorry to lose Miss Lawrence but wish her the best of success in her new territory.

All members of the committee for the fair to be given under the auspices of the Woman's Club Aug. 23 are requested to meet for an all-day session at the hall Thursday. Time is getting short to work before the fair will be held and it will expedite matters to have all members present.

Those who are to participate in the concert to be given Aug. 18 at the Baptist Church are asked to meet there next Thursday evening for rehearsal at 6:30 standard.

Mothers are reminded of the regular health conference at the Congregational vestry Wednesday at 2 o'clock daylight. A pre-school clinic will also be held in connection and it is hoped that all mothers having children to enter school this fall will be present.

LEISURE AND AMUSEMENT

PERHAPS the greatest problem for youth which presents for solution is after all, the problems of leisure, made doubly complex by our vast, infinitely complicated modern scheme of commercialized amusements.

Play is action. It involves effort and struggle and is therefore physically tiring, demanding rest and relaxation. Amusement is passive, softening, often debilitating. Youth is in grave danger of becoming passive and soft and "spineless," because of the exposure to too much amusement. Bright lights, jazz music, emotion-exciting entertainment, combine to control leisure, so that vigorous outdoor play time is crowded out. Far too much of the leisure time of youth is filled with artificial amusement and the result is pre-matured young folks with the passions of adult and the self control of children.

There is a marked tendency to buy our amusement instead of creating it, and the result is it is not recreation at all, but a heavy tax on emotion and self control and poise.

As some one has so well pointed out to us youth's leisure is filled with interests, which makes them "fly to pieces," when it was designed to help them "pull themselves together." Their amusements are nervously exhausting instead of resulting in poise and power and peace of mind.

Keep your boys interested as long as possible in skating and tennis and swimming and in hiking and horsebacking and hunting and the like. Hook with these active pursuits as many constructive hobbies as possible. Fill leisure with hobbies that demand time and money and what leisure is not used in the hobby itself will be used in earning the money to go on with the hobby.

Boys who are consumed with interest in any one of a hundred leisure time activities, invariably turn out better than the loafer with time on his hands to kill. Beware of leisure to do hours.

YOUNG DONDIS WINS

Much elation was expressed here yesterday when it was learned that Harold Dondis had successfully passed his screen test in New York, and has already taken his place in the cast of a picture which is being made. The lad is a son of Manager Joseph Dondis of Strand Theatre, and from earliest childhood has exhibited a pronounced dramatic instinct. That he will have a successful future in the movie profession is the wish of everybody in Rockland.

Among the guests at Rose-Anne Lodge, East Union the past week were: Mrs. H. D. Ames, Brockton, Mass.; Mrs. A. C. McLoon, Rockland; Mrs. Jennie W. Bird, Rockland; Miss Madeline Bird, Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. George W. Snow, Coral Gables, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Davis, Rockland.

Mrs. Milton Friese and daughter Jeanette are to arrive next Monday for a summer visit with Mrs. C. P. Simmons.

Mrs. Jennie Cloutier who has been visiting Mrs. Hazel Nash and Mrs. Alice Russell returned to Springfield, Mass., Saturday.

Capt. and Mrs. George W. Snow arrived Saturday night from Havana for a visit with Mrs. Snow's mother, Mrs. Jennie W. Bird, Middle street.

Miss Mabel Spring who has been with the Misses Erskine over the weekend has taken an apartment at E. C. Orie's, Summer street, for the month of August. Miss Spring is later than usual in arriving, having spent the early part of the summer in Marblehead, Mass., and Canada.

Frederick Myrton Ranney and his wife, Grace Dorman Ranney, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Conroy of Warren. Mr. Ranney is resident social case worker at Norfolk State Prison colony, the great new penological experiment in Massachusetts. Mrs. Ranney is psychiatric social worker at the Grafton State Hospital at North Grafton. The Ranneys live at Southborough, Mass. Mrs. Ranney and Mrs. Conroy are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Orcutt and daughter Katherine of North Weymouth, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Orcutt's sisters in Rockland and Thomaston.

Friends regret to learn that the Harold Roberts family are closing Trialmark Farm this week and returning to New York, cutting short their usual summer stay.

The anniversary of the births of Mrs. Sarah Prescott and Mrs. Nellie Fish occurring last week the event was observed jointly for the fourth year at the home of Mrs. Prescott, Cedar street. Miss Florence Pendleton and Miss Laura Fish were special guests. The ladies were well remembered with cards, candy and some very useful presents. Each received a nice birthday cake adorned with candies and a solitary candle. Mrs. Prescott's favorite pie, a custard, suddenly appeared at the dinner hour much to her surprise. The occasion was a happy one for all concerned.

THE FURNISHING OF MONTPELIER

What the Committee Brought To Pass In Equipping the Interior—Custodian's Report

At the recent annual meeting of the Knox Memorial Association among the reports submitted were a few of interest to the general public, and these at the desire of the official board are offered through the columns of this paper. The report of the president of the past year, printed in Thursday's issue, was followed Saturday by that of the special committee on grounds. Today is presented the report of the committee on furnishings and that of the custodian.

The Furnishings Report

Mr. President and members of the Knox Memorial Association:

I report with pleasure the progress made in the work assigned my committee—the members of which include Mrs. Arthur J. Elliot, Mrs. Lawrence Dunn, Mrs. John E. Walker, Mrs. Ernest C. Davis, Miss Elizabeth Washburn, Mrs. Albert T. Gould, Mrs. Helen Smith, Mrs. George E. Wood, Mrs. L. Bliss Gilchrist, Mrs. John O. Stevens and Mrs. George M. Derry. And I take this opportunity to thank these ladies for their fine co-operation and help.

Diligent search has been made for original furnishings that graced the first Montpelier, and an astonishing number of these pieces have been procured, through gifts or purchase or loan. Many more of these furnishings we have located but have been unable thus far to win—quite a number, including the fine dining table and two sideboards, are to come to us by will; others to come when hearts yield their rare and loved treasures into our hands.

To make of Montpelier the authentic patriotic shrine, every known article that belonged to the general and Madam Knox should be placed within the mansion. Your committee have used the funds entrusted to them with care and much effort toward economy. Period furnishings were supplied to complete the picture when needed, and can be deleted when originals are procured to take their place.

The Maine Daughters of the American Revolution, who voted to furnish one room, have supplied thus far one Knox mirror, two Knox chairs and a pair of beautiful alabaster vases and an alabaster French clock. The Founders Society sent through Mrs. John E. Walker a pair of candlesticks, snuffers and tray, that have been placed in the D.A.R. Room general mirror and chairs. The National Society of the Cincinnati voted to give a bronze tablet, which has not yet been received. Many other donations of Knox articles have come to us from patriotic and devoted friends.

Professor Henry Thatcher Fowler, a direct living member of the Knox family, gave to the Memorial Association as we know, all that he owned of the Knox items, which included furniture, silver, china, paintings, and many rare furnishings. The Thomaston Daughters have given the collection of Knox relics—collected through the years of effort—which included many rare and valuable furnishings. From California, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Virginia, North Carolina, Kansas, Michigan, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Indiana and Pennsylvania, and from many foreign countries have been gathered Miss Eloise Nash is the guest of her cousin, Miss June Blake in Hallowell.

Miss Stella Young and Miss Irma Mather are guests for two weeks of Miss Young's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young in Belfast.

William T. White returned to New York by the Sunday night train after a brief stay in town. Mrs. White remaining for the rest of the season.

Mrs. Alberta Rose has gone to Boothbay Harbor where she will be with her friend Mrs. Trefrey for the month of August.

Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Prescott of Cleveland, who are visiting relatives in Washington, were recent visitors in this city at the home of their uncle, Walter Prescott and Mrs. Sarah Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer B. Weed and son Dyer of Springfield, Mass., are guests of Mrs. Davis Weed.

The Swimming Club was entertained yesterday by Mrs. Bertha French at her cottage at Hosmer Pond. Morning swim was followed by a chicken chow mein dinner served on the porch.

Mrs. S. T. Constantine is the guest of friends in Portland and Boston for a few days.

Mrs. E. S. Bird and Mrs. Della Sullivan have returned from Augusta where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Almon B. Sullivan at Lake Cobbescooke for the weekend.

Mrs. Margaret Rackliffe and Mrs. Donald Perry have resumed their duties at the Senter Crane store after their annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Bickmore are visiting Mrs. Llewellyn Conary of Swans Island for a week.

Mrs. Anne Haskell of Belfast is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Freeman F. Brown at Ash Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fitzpatrick of Providence arrived Sunday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Perry, Grove street, for a week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Perry who had been visiting relatives and friends in Fall River, Boston and Providence. The daughter, Felice is remaining for the balance of the summer with Mr. and Mrs. William Durand, Fall River.

the rare and beautiful things that go to complete the picture.

We deeply appreciate the patriotic spirit that has prompted these gifts, a spirit we are confident that will appeal to those who now find it difficult to part with long-loved treasures that once belonged to Knox—so that at long distant time visitors being shown the Mansion may not say to us, "There is still much extant that should be here."

To bring the Memorial into a desired colonial atmosphere your committee had to spend a large part of its fund in carpenter work, painting and removal of radiators that destroyed the spirit of the 18th century atmosphere. Many journeys had to be taken in our quests. Bowdoin College was visited with personal appeals for the paintings that once graced Montpelier, but so far without success.

Hundreds of letters have been sent out by the chairman of your committee—with heart throbs enclosed, and results in some cases have proved valuable. This work will take years more of constant search and effort to run down, as we should do, even the slightest clue that may lead to originals. They will come if we persevere and we will be able to indulge in full and just pride in our patriotic memorial to a great man.

I could lengthen this report by enumerating the many valuable articles given, loaned and purchased that grace the Mansion, but these can all be seen.

The Memorial's first year open to the public shows on its registry book visitors from thirteen countries, thirty-seven states and with nearly 4000 names recorded. This should justify our efforts as an association and entitle us to a feeling of security and pride.

Respectfully submitted,
Kathleen S. Fuller,
Chairman of Furnishings Committee.

Custodian's Report

To Knox Memorial Association:
As Custodian of Montpelier, I have given as much time and care as possible to the building and grounds. The house was open to the public on the day of the dedication, July 25, 1931. Visitors for the month of July were 698, August 1771, September 694, October 244, November 199, a total of 3526 from July 25th to November 30th when the house was closed for the season. Mrs. Overlock and Mrs. Creighton were hostesses with the assistance of members of the D.A.R.

John Hanley was caretaker and watchman until his sickness and death on Feb. 11th. He will always be remembered as most faithful and devoted to his work.

At a meeting of the Directors in May, 1932, there were eight applications for the position of caretaker. William B. Matthews was appointed for that position, and has given excellent service. There were two applications for the position of hostess, Mrs. Collamore and Mrs. Sturtevant. The board appointed Mrs. Sturtevant to fill the position, which she is doing most efficiently. Under the supervision of Mrs. Sturtevant the house was thoroughly cleaned and prepared for the opening day, June 5th. Visitors for June were 210, for July to date 324.

The Old Church is in practically the same condition as it was last year. It is very much in need of some repairs, which should be attended to as soon as possible.

Respectfully submitted,
A. J. Elliot, Custodian.

Mrs. George B. Davis is at the YM.C.A. camp, Winthrop, where her son Grant is ill, suffering from a throat abscess.

Mrs. Earl McIntosh entertained 12 guests at luncheon and bridge yesterday at Owl's Head Inn, honors taken by Mrs. J. A. Burpee, Mrs. H. B. Fales, Mrs. J. O. Stevens and Mrs. Joshua N. Southard.

Mrs. D. G. Munson and daughters Olive and Ruth of Brooklyn are occupying the Albert Hastings cottage at Ingraham Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beverage and children, Mary, Jessie and John have returned to Southbridge, Mass., after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry French, Rankin street.

WED.-THURS.

Lights of NEW YORK

By WALTER TRUMBULL

At his home in the East Fifties, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has a truly magnificent pipe organ. He is a pretty fair amateur organist himself, but frequently he calls in a blind man to play for his family and friends. This blind man is a fine performer and knows any amount of classical music by heart.

Probably one of the finest private libraries in the United States is owned by Walter Pforzheimer, the investment broker. They tell me he keeps most of his books at "Hidden Brook farm," his place in Westchester. The name of that farm should itself make a good title for a story.

In these troublous times, members of the senate and house are getting the largest mail in history. Letters and telegrams from constituents pour in Washington in a never ending stream. One day, by two o'clock in the afternoon, 3,000 telegrams had been delivered to the office of Royal Copeland, senator from New York. Secretaries classify these telegrams and letters and it takes an efficient service to deliver them, to say nothing of handling them later.

Before his death, Coleman Du Pont owned a number of New York hotels, as well as hotels in other parts of the country. He used to stay at his suite in the McAlpin when he was in Manhattan, but he also kept a suite at the old Waldorf, and it was there that he used to give some of his famous dinners. The Empire State skyscraper is many stories taller than the old Waldorf, but it never will have the atmosphere of the building it replaced.

Collecting watches is a fad with several rich men, but there is one extremely wealthy gentleman who goes further. He not only collects watches, he repairs them. For some reason he never is so happy as when operating on a watch or a clock. It is his relaxation and he spends hours at it. One day he rode in the roadster of a friend. The dash clock didn't work. The rich man managed to get it loose from its moorings, took it home, and a week or so later shipped it back to the owner in perfect running condition.

Florenz Ziegfeld is continually being asked by coeducational universities to act as a judge in beauty contests. Some of the girl undergraduates probably believe that Ziegfeld has only to see them to offer them a leading part in one of his shows.

I still think the prettiest "Miss America" I ever saw was the little Campbell girl, from Columbus, Ohio. She married an Ohio State football player and retired from the professional beauty business.

The prettiest Italian woman I ever saw, was in Naples; the prettiest French woman was in Aix les Bains; the prettiest English woman was in London; the prettiest Scotch woman was in Chicago; the prettiest daughter of Sweden was in New York. The loveliest Russian woman I ever saw was in Paris.

But walk up and down Fifth avenue and you will see as beautiful women as there are anywhere in the world.

Newborn Babe Given Intelligence Test

Iowa City, Iowa.—Dr. Orvil C. Irwin of the University of Iowa believes that it is never too young for an infant to start to learn.

Acting upon this theory, the psychologist has begun a series of experiments with babies who are less than 15 minutes old, and expects to begin educating children when they are still in the crib.

A stabilimeter, attached to the child's crib in a cabinet in the University hospital, obtains a perfect record of the child's every movement. The breathing also is recorded. These records are supplemented by pictures taken with high-speed cameras.

Doctor Irwin believes that the scientific studies will enable children to be taught self-feeding, walking and talking at a very early age.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

Chapman Day—July 23, 1932. Eastern Music Camp, Lake Mesquon, Sidney, Maine.

Chapman Day has come and gone (this is a belated story) and thus has another notch been carved in Maine's notable music history. It was a glorious experience. When Dr. William Rogers Chapman visited the Rockland chorus several weeks ago and outlined his plans for Chapman Day founded in his desire to establish a scholarship fund at the Eastern Music Camp, to be known as the Chapman Fund, he greeted a most enthusiastic group of local singers who devoted the intervening weeks learning and rehearsing chorus numbers and suffered divers plans for the occasion.

And let me say right here that William Rogers Chapman is wonderful. More than 70 years have passed over his head, yet he seems the very same Mr. Chapman who used to visit our Rockland chorus many years ago. His vigor undiminished, his memory nothing short of wonderful, and his head is in the clouds as it was in the old days—brimful of plans, visions, dreams, for the future. When he appeared at rehearsal Saturday morning his right arm was in a sling. We learned he suffered a strain or sprain the previous day. He stood the sling for a time, but as the day wore on, his patience wore out, and off came the sling!

Everyone was excited. There were, a good 800-voice chorus representing many Maine towns, some as far distant as Presque Isle, as a background for an inspiring orchestra of 100 pieces drawn from Camp students, and spread out in front of us was an audience numbering close to 3500 persons. Such a wonderful setting—the huge bowl and audience seats placed amid a grove of stately trees, flanked on the right and left by heavenly white birch trees—not slender saplings, but tall, nobly proportioned trees, yet graceful and delicately garbed in lacy green leaves.

Space does not permit a detailed report of the fine program, even though deserving, but will touch briefly on certain bits. The orchestra deserves special mention. When one considers that these players are confined almost wholly to boys and girls of high school age, their work seems all the more amazing. Of course, they are advanced students musically, but even at that it is astonishing. There is present in their work the attributes of seasoned orchestral players—attack, rhythm, proportion and shading. The strings in the Mendelssohn number left us breathless with joy. The boy acting as concert master played like a veteran, and we noted with interest Sylvia Rowell beside him—the talented Portland girl who not only plays the violin notably well, but promises to be a composer of ability. A teacher is with each section of the orchestra, to lend steadiness and support. Teachers and pupils alike wear the striking camp uniforms, grass green combined with buff.

At intermission Dr. Henry F. Merrill, president of the Eastern Music Camp Corp. and known to us through his fine work in the 13 Class of Portland, spoke concerning Dr. Chapman's accomplishments in music in Maine and also of his plans for the future, paying tribute not only to him but to Mrs. Chapman who has aided very materially in the success attained by her husband. Dr. Merrill's remarks were well timed and eloquent with truth. A beautiful bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. Chapman who acknowledged with appreciation and grace.

The local contribution to the chorus included: Mrs. Carrie Flye, Mrs. Alfred Wilman of Camden, Mrs. Ruth Lawrence, Mrs. Grace Crie, Mrs. Eva Green, Mrs. Mabel Green, Mrs. Elsa Fougere, Mrs. Grace Strout and Miss Irene Young of Thomaston, Mrs. Florence McMillan, Miss Margaret McMillan, Miss Margaret Simmons, Mrs. Eva Wisner, Mrs. Lillian Joyce, Miss Hope Greenhough, Mrs. Lora Smith, Mrs. Mildred Rhodes of Rockport, Mrs. Marion Legg of Manchester, Conn., Mrs. Susie Morey, Mrs. Dorothy Crie, Miss Harriet Parmelee, Mrs. Helen Wentworth, Mrs. Edna French, Mrs. Nettie Averill, Mrs. J. Hale Hodgman of Camden, Mrs. Annie Thurston of Rockville, Mrs. Lucy Lowe, Mrs. Elizabeth Hagar, Mrs. Gladys Morgan, Mrs. Esther Rogers, Miss Mary Bird, Mrs. Nettie Frost, Mrs. Dora Bird, Mrs. Emma Harvie, Miss Marian Harvey, Mrs. Hazel Atwood, Mrs. Agnes Witham of Camden, Miss Katherine Keating, Mrs. Geneva Hake, Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn, Mrs. Clara Rounds, Mrs. Edith Bird, Miss Caroline Littlefield, Mrs. Faith G. Berry, Mrs. Maryon Benner, Mrs. Lydia Storer, Mrs.

Edna Browne, Miss Ferne Browne, Mrs. Rosa Fowles of Rockville, Miss Dorothy Harvie, Miss Sarah Sanson, Miss Marian Walcott of Camden, Osmond Palmer, Charles Marston of Rockport, Bernard Thurston of Rockville, E. F. Berry, Kelley B. Crie, R. B. Magune, John Taylor of Camden, R. K. Greene, Harold Greene, S. T. Constantine, J. A. Brewster of Camden, Roscoe McKinnis, Weston Wall of Rockport.

In the audience were noted Mrs. Ella Grimes, Mrs. Elizabeth Haines, Miss Margaret G. Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter, Aime Beaudoin, Miss Celia Brault, Mr. Israel Snow, Miss M. E. Burbank and her house guest, Mrs. Josephine Baker of Cambridge, Mrs. Ralph Hayden of Camden, Theodore Bird, Mrs. Osmond Palmer, Rev. Winfield Witham of Camden, Miss Mabel Pillsbury, Mrs. C. A. Knickerbocker and daughter Constance, Miss Lucy French, Miss Flora Colson, Mrs. A. R. Marsh, Mrs. G. M. Derry, Mrs. Fred E. Linekin, Mrs. Harriet Frost, Mrs. G. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Russell Bartlett, Mrs. A. P. McAlary, Mrs. Ella S. Bird, Mrs. Roscoe McKinnis and daughter, Miss Eleanor Bird, Miss Dorothy Felt of Thomaston, Mrs. Lela Smalley of Thomaston, Miss Helen de Rochemont, Mrs. G. F. Currier of Rockport, Mrs. Harry H. Wolcott of Camden, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wolf of Thomaston, and Winfield Benner and John Storer of the Harmonica Band who enjoyed the trip immensely although no opportunity was provided for junior entertainment. Doubtless names have been omitted from both audience and chorus, but we gathered in all we could, and if your name isn't here, please pardon the oversight.

Anyway, we have outgrown the idea that anything less than a quarter is an insult instead of a tip.—Publishers' Syndicate.

Who was Who?

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

THE BUFFALO NICKEL INDIAN

OUT in Glacier National park lives a Blackfoot Indian chief named Two Guns White Wolf. For many years innumerable pictures of him have appeared in newspapers all over the country with some such caption as "You've His Portrait in Your Pocket—Peruans." For popular legend has it that he is the original of the Indian on the buffalo nickel.

But the man who knows, if anyone does, who was the original of that famous likeness says that it isn't Chief Two Guns White Wolf. That man is James Earle Fryer, a famous sculptor whose design was accepted by officials of the United States treasury when the new five-cent piece was issued.

Mr. Fryer has stated that he "had never seen Two Guns White Wolf," which would seem to dispose of the legend of the Blackfoot being his model. More than that he goes on to say that he used the profiles of three Indians for his design. One was Chief Iron Tail of the Ogallala Sioux, another was Chief Two Moons of the Northern Cheyennes and the third was an Indian whose name he had forgotten. So instead of the "buffalo nickel Indian" having one original, it had three and two of them were very famous Indians indeed—great chiefs among their people and leaders in the Custer battle in 1876 and other famous battles with both white men and red.

OUR JUNIOR PUZZLE

"SO MANY OF THEM!"

"Oh, my!" says Helen to May. "There are so many of them this month you see their pictures in every newspaper, almost!" "Yes, and would you believe it, my sister will be one too!" says May. If you want to know what they are talking about, take a pencil and join all the numbered dots together, starting with dot number one and ending with dot number thirty-four. It is a word of six letters.

Could Hardly Raise Hand Off Her Bed

"No woman could have been in worse condition than I was the last two years and get well. Not only was I constantly wracked with pain but I was also deathly sick most of the time. Anything I put in my stomach caused terrible nausea. I became so weak I could scarcely lift my hand off my bed. After one bottle of Sargol I started to eat nourishing food and digest it. My strength returned so fast I was soon able to be up and do my house work. Sargol Soft Mass Pills helped me regain my health by eliminating the poison from my system. I will always bless these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. C. Wolf, 1017 North 32nd Ave., Omaha, Neb.

"ON MY SET"

Preferred Stage

Guy Bates Post

Although his father was a great lumber baron of the Northwest, Guy Bates Post turned "thumbs down" on that business to study law, which he later deserted for the stage. He makes his radio debut next Sunday in "Roses and Drums" over the CBS network at 6:30 p.m. EDT, portraying "Mad" Anthony Wayne in an incident of the "Battle of Fallen Timbers." Had he not acted in any other shows save "The Masquerader" and "Omar Khayyam," Post's reputation as a foremost American actor would be assured. He is one of the stage's most versatile stars—and an acknowledged master in character roles.

I found a stranger on my dial Sunday night and it proved to be WFAB of Jackson Heights, Long Island, N. Y., operating on 1310 k.c. None of the registers in my possession contained it, so I assume that it is a new station. A preface to looking over the program was being presented while I listened. Incidentally I added it as the 315th station in my log.

Sunday night's reception was about the best of the summer, and I do not recall that I ever heard the Jenny band concert to better advantage.

On these nice summer mornings an alluring picture is painted by Boston Globe broadcaster as a preface to looking over the morning paper. Listening to what he said yesterday morning about the advent of August one could almost imagine himself eating a piece of that blueberry pie. Some fine day he may mention those Fenobscot Bay lobstersters, of which he has a standing invitation to partake.

PARK THEATRE

"Madame Racketeer" comes for Wednesday and Thursday. There's excitement, fluster, for the Countess is leaving—not for home, but jail. She has just completed her last stretch for swindling and the hunt for more suckers is on again. As she bids farewell to the Warden, she

LUX won't fade colors—won't shrink woollens

Hands him a watch, "It's just a token of remembrance to an old friend—a priceless antique, given me by the Empress Eugenie," she says. Later the Warden winds the watch and finds it has no works. "The darned crook!" But that's the Countess! Out in the world again she hits the trail of easy money—from easy men. She spots them with uncanny shrewdness. Then plans to trim Richard, children or no children, for he is so easy—easy money ought not to have money. But see the picture to get the story in proper form.—adv.
